AZRIELI INTERNATIONAL POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWS Program Guidelines 2015-2016

The Azrieli Fellows Program promotes excellence in research and graduate studies at accredited institutions of higher learning in Israel. This prestigious and competitive program, established in 2007, provides financial support to the best and brightest scholars from Israel and around the world. These scholars become leaders in their respective fields and raise Israel's profile internationally, and maintain strong academic and professional links between Israel and the rest of the world.

The Azrieli Fellows Program welcomes candidates who wish to undertake postdoctoral research in Israel. Applicants must be Canadian citizens or have completed a doctorate at a Canadian university. The time candidates spend conducting research in Israel will provide them with valuable tools that will help them realize their professional goals through collaborative association with Israel's world-class academic institutions and researchers.

Eligibility

The Azrieli Fellows Program is currently open to scholars at the postdoctoral level who are Canadian citizens OR who have completed their doctorates at Canadian universities.

Scholars may undertake postdoctoral research in any field of study. Candidates may apply at an early stage of their professional career and no later than four years after completion of their doctoral dissertation. Candidates must not hold a tenure or tenure-track faculty position.

The Azrieli Fellows Program is open to candidates who have held no more than two postdoctoral positions.

Scholars may apply in the last year of the PhD with a letter from the supervisor stating that the candidate will receive the doctorate by the summer. If the PhD is incomplete by the stated time then the candidate will forfeit the fellowship.

A candidate may reapply to the Azrieli Fellows Program if he or she is not accepted. Candidates will only be considered for reapplication one time.

The fellowships are awarded on the basis of academic excellence. Candidates are assessed on their potential to make cutting-edge contributions to their respective fields. Aspects of personal merit and leadership abilities are also taken into consideration without regard to race, religion, gender, ethnicity or age.

Scholars who wish to apply must obtain an academic sponsor. The academic sponsor must be a faculty member at one of the seven participating Israeli academic institutions. Candidates must ensure that this sponsor is willing to actively support the research proposal because it is closely connected to and complements his or her area of expertise. Candidates must have written support from their academic sponsor illustrating the enthusiasm the sponsor has to actively collaborate on the proposed research. We will not be able to process an application without an academic sponsor.

GUIDELINES FOR REFEREES

Please provide a letter of recommendation for the applicant. Letters of recommendation are a key factor in the fellowship award decisions.

The fellowships are awarded on the basis of academic excellence. Candidates are assessed on their potential to make cutting edge contributions to their respective fields. Aspects of personal merit and leadership abilities are also taken into consideration without regard to race, religion, gender, ethnicity or age.

Please describe in what capacity you know the candidate and identify the applicant's major strengths. Please comment on the applicant's research ability/potential and on the applicant's interpersonal and leadership ability.

Letters of recommendation should be signed and written on institution letterhead. They should be regarded as confidential, and submitted by the referee directly to the Azrieli Foundation by November 3, 2014, in one of the following ways:

Option 1: Sent by email as a PDF attachment to: fellows@azrielifoundation.org.

Option 2: Sent by postal mail to the following address:

Value of the Fellowship

The value of the fellowship is CDN$40,000 annually. The Azrieli Foundation has no objection to the Fellow's receipt of additional research funds, with the exception of other postdoctoral fellowships or scholarships from Israeli sources. Funding from a sponsor's lab and from the Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs is permissible.

Duration of the Fellowship

The duration of the fellowship is for one year, with the possibility of renewal for a second year.

The fellowship is for research done at Israeli universities. One of the central goals of our fellowship program is to establish strong ties with the Israeli academic community and society. We therefore offer a full 12-month fellowship intended for research done in Israel throughout this period. If research collaborations require a Fellow to be away from Israel for some time, the period away from Israel should be no longer than 25% of the fellowship period. It is expected that the major and significant portion of research be done in Israel.

Responsibilities of an Azrieli Fellow

In order to maintain good standing, Azrieli Fellows will be required to sign a form committing themselves to the fulfillment of the following responsibilities:

1. Academic Excellence

Fellows are obligated to maintain a high level of academic excellence throughout the program. The Fellow must submit progress reports as per the request of the Azrieli Fellows Program management. The reports will describe the research done up until that point and must be signed by the Fellow's academic sponsor who should also provide detailed comments.

2. Community Work

Azrieli Fellows will be asked to volunteer 40 hours over the course of the year at a program to be approved by the Azrieli Fellows Program management. We are available to advise you regarding a volunteer placement based on your area of interest, Hebrew language ability and location.

3. Participation in Program-sponsored Events

In order to foster the exchange of ideas between Azrieli Fellows, both Israeli and International, and to maintain a sense of group identification, the program will sponsor several events during the academic year at which Fellows may socialize and share their research and study activities. These events include but are not limited to: the Fellows gala, the Azrieli Fellows forums and an end-of-year dinner.

4. Publications

The work produced by the Fellows during the course of their research in Israel may be eligible for publication in a future on-line journal. Any written work published by the Fellows while participating in the program must acknowledge the support of the Azrieli Foundation in a written dedication.

Fellows will also be asked to submit an abstract of their dissertation and published works to the Azrieli Fellows Program management for use in publicity material produced by the program and on the Foundation website.

5. Alumni Activities

Fellows will be part of a growing global community of Azrieli Fellows alumni. Fellows will be asked to share their experiences with others, to publicize the Program to their colleagues and to participate in information sessions for new candidates that may be held in their region. In the future, it is expected that alumni will assist in the selection process for incoming students.
